International Disputes: A View from the Federal Bench

Please join the International Law Section for a panel of distinguished former federal judges and current practitioners discussing international disputes – a view from the federal bench. Based on more than a century of combined experience, the panel will focus on international litigation, past issues and current trends, as well as the role of arbitration and mediation in resolving international conflicts. The panel will discuss a wide range of issues, including representing clients subject to international sanctions, cross-boarder procedural issues, and the reality of trying a Foreign Corrupt Practices Act case.
